

Dr Zair Bouzidi Biography

Dr Zair BOUZIDI, Associate Professor in the Department of Commercial Science, University of Bejaia, has more than 25 years of teaching experience. He received the Engineer degree from the University of Constantine, Algeria, a Master's (DEA) in Graphics Processing and Image Processing at the University of Strasbourg with a DEA end-of-cycle dissertation carried out at the CNRS in Cronenburg-Strasbourg, in France, and the Magister degree from the University of Bejaia, Algeria. He teaches moreover in the Computer Science Department of the Faculty of Sciences and Applied Sciences of the University of Bouira. He received his PhD from Bouira University, in the Computer Science Department at the Faculty of Science and Applied Science. His area of interest is in artificial intelligence, machine learning, deep learning, big data, fake news, and social network.

He has organized workshops such as The First National Conference on Advances in Computational Intelligence, Systems and Networking (ACISN'23) November 20-21, 2023- in Bouira, Algeria. He started writing a book on artificial intelligence, deep learning, big data, and social networks. He has a strong striving passion for his profession. He is a member of the LMA research laboratory at the University of Bejaia and a member of the laboratory of LIM (Laboratory of Informatics and Mathematics) at the University of Bouira. He is a Co-Investigator for a faculty internally funded project titled "Communication, Collaboration, and Decision in a Distributed Environment", a research project 2022-2025. He is co-supervisor of a start-up project entitled "Creation of a startup for online hotel reservations and the promotion of the Algerian tourist destination: Fondook". He has published many papers in International Journals and Conferences.

é